1. Aims and Scope

The Russian Law Journal is designed to encourage research especially in Russian law and legal systems of the countries of Eurasia. It covers recent legal developments in this region, but also those on an international and comparative level.

The RLJ is not sponsored or affiliated with any university; it is an independent All-Russian inter-university platform, initiated privately without any support from governmental authorities.

The RLJ is published in English and appears four times per year. All articles are subject to professional editing by native English-speaking legal scholars.

2. Notes for Contributors

The RLJ encourages comparative research by those who are interested in Russian law, but also seeks to encourage interest in all matters relating to international public and private law, civil and criminal law, constitutional law, civil rights, the theory and history of law, and the relationships between law and culture and other disciplines. A special emphasis is placed on interdisciplinary legal research.

Manuscripts must be the result of original research, not published elsewhere. Articles should be prepared and must be submitted in English. The RLJ does not accept translations of original articles prepared in other languages. The RLJ welcomes qualified scholars, but also accepts serious works by PhD students and practicing lawyers.

The RLJ contains articles, notes, book reviews and conference reviews.

Manuscripts should be submitted electronically via the website www.russianlawjournal.org. Articles will be subjected to a process of peer review. Contributors will be notified of the results of the initial review process within a period of two months.

Citations in footnotes must conform to The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation.

A References section is required: entries must conform to the author-title system, such as that described in the Oxford Style Manual.

3. General Style Notes

3.1. Notation of dates

Continental style: 27 August 1996.

3.2. Headings

Preferably, no more than three heading levels should be used: Bold, Italics and Roman.

3.3. Quotations and Quotation Marks

Quotations should be enclosed in double quotation marks; quotations longer than three lines should be indented (i.e. ‘displayed quotations’ or ‘block quotations’). Single quotation marks should be used when referring to, for example, ‘terms of art’, etc.

Quotation marks should normally appear before punctuation, and before footnote cues (superscript numbers).

3.4. Abbreviations

Do not use abbreviations in the main text except where a proper name is used repeatedly. In such a case, the first full mention of the proper name should be followed by the abbreviation in parentheses, and the abbreviation should be consistently referred to thereafter. Use abbreviations as much as possible in the footnotes.

3.5. Structure

Manuscripts may contain Title, Abstract (200–250 words), Keywords, Abbreviations, Table of contents, Acknowledgments, References, Information about the author (current position, postal address, email).

3.6. Headings, numbers and bullets

Contributions must be subdivided into logical units, each with its own numbered heading.

The following style should be used for numbering headings. Please do not use automatic numbering in the headings.

- 1.
- 1.1.
- 1.2.
- 1.3.
- 2.
- 2.1.
- 2.2.
- 2.3.
